THE AKRON NEGRO ON RELIEF

There is a greater number of Negroes on relief in proportion to their population than is true of whites. The reason for this difference is that Negroes are largely concentrated in those economic groups which have contributed heavily to the rolls of unemployment such as unskilled labor and domestic service workers. Some of the reasons for this condition are racial discriminations in lay-offs and re-employment. The Negro being the first fired and the last hired, the displacement of Negro laborers by whites, the crowding of him out of the cheap labor fields, industrial color bans in organized labor and the technological displacement of all workers.

The Negro has proved his ability not only as an unskilled laborer but as a skilled laborer. Let us hope that the future holds brighter prospects towards inter-racial understanding in Akron and thereby barriers will be broken down which will make Akron a better city in which to live.

EDUCATIONAL STATISTICS

Negro education must definitely prepare Negroes for fields which do not at present welcome them.

In 1914 there were 255 undergraduates' degrees granted by Negro schools in the U. S. A. and in 1936 there were 1,791, an increase of 602.4%.

HISTORICAL FACTS

Akron Negro Civil War Veterans enlisted from Akron into the Union Army in 1861:

James Robinson	Moses James
John W. Brooks	Frances M. Hailstock
James Morrison	Owen Hailstock
Absolam H. Brooks	Washington Martin

They Fought for Our Freedom!

Akron centrally located between two great waterways in 1870 became an important trading post, a clearing house for commerce carried on between northern and southern Ohio traders. Akron population according to the Federal census in 1850 was 3,266 total population with a Negro population of 73. In 1860 the total population was 3,520 with a Negro population of 24.

In 1864 due to the steady growth of the Village and the building of a railroad—the Atlantic and Great Western which afforded direct connections with the eastern seaboard, the increase in manufacturing and in agriculture—it became necessary to extend the city limits South of East Exchange Street and east of Arch Street extending to Arlington. This expansion and increase in population inspired the demand for a charter. Without waiting for a Federal census. An enumeration was made and it was found that the population had increased from 3,520 total population including 24 Negroes, to a 5,000 population including 196 Negroes.

On January 21, 1865 the Secretary of State proclaimed Akron a city of the second class. The early Negro settlers came to Akron 20 years before the Civil War. Mrs. Tanner Ann Cooper became one among the first Negro property owners through the purchase of property at 70 N. Broadway where the Bowen school was formerly located. Augustus W. Rowe, born August 10, 1830, employed as a waiter at the Empire Hotel, where the Portage Hotel is now located, later contracted to carry the mail under Postmaster Strict Ebright was also an early Negro resident owning property on Garfield Ave. Others among the earlier Negro settlers were: Frances Hailstock, James W. Brooks, Garfield Dandridge and Moses James.

Negro citizens took part in the upbuilding of a city which was to become the 35th city in population, 12th in value of manufactures in the United States and the greatest rubber manufacturing center in the world. They helped build the canal, also played a prominent part in the development of agriculture.
